GREEKING OPPOSES WAR

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(King Constantine) says a news agency dispatch from Athens, "has decided to keep the Balkan cabinet in power by dissolving Parliament. It will be two months before a general election can be held."

Another dispatch states that the king has induced the policy of Minister of War Vassilios, which was defeated in the Greek Chamber of Deputies, and has appointed his chief aide-de-camp.

By International News Service.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—An official statement on Balkan war operations, issued at Berlin today, says that the Bulgarians have decisively beaten the French troops in Serbia. The statement follows:

"The Bulgarians have completely defeated the French expeditionary troops to the southeast of Philip. Those of the French that were not captured were not routed. The first French prisoners have arrived at Koustendil, Bulgaria."

Philip is in southern Serbia, twenty-eight miles south of Velea, thirty miles northeast of Monastir and twenty miles west of the Nish-Salonica railway."

The general advance of the German, Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian troops continues. Twenty-seven hundred more Serbians have been captured."

Cold Wave Due to Arrive in Boston Tonight

A cold wave is due in Boston late tonight or tomorrow morning, according to the weather forecast on top of the Federal building. The drop in the temperature will not be very great, however.

The weather today is not particularly bad, says the forecaster, and the darkness is due to smoke which is hanging over the city, instead of passing out to sea. A slight disturbance in weather conditions started in the vicinity of Nantucket and passed this way. There is a low pressure generally off the coast.

The forecast for today is: Fair and older tonight and Saturday; moderate northwest winds.

Germany Believes Rumania Neutral

LONDON, Nov. 5.—"The Rumanian government has ordered the disarmament and internment of two Russian torpedo boats and an armed submarine which are in Rumanian waters at Turn-Severin, on the Danube," says the Berlin Overseas News Agency.

"Rumanian newspapers publish a semi-official statement that the nation will not intervene in the war unless its vital interests are menaced, and that the country is under obligation to a military sense neither in Serbia or any other nation. The general opinion is that the statement is proof that Rumania has declined the proposals made by the entente powers on October 22."

Road, New Haven's Fire Claim Agent

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 5.—C. R. Road, formerly freight agent at Putnam and Willimantic, and later fire claim agent for Massachusetts and Rhode Island on the New Haven Road, has been appointed general fire claim agent of the road with headquarters at Boston, according to an announcement made here.

Woman Burned by Explosion of Lamp

Mrs. Molly McDonald, twenty-three years old, 145 Tremont street, South End, was seriously burned early today, when a lamp exploded while she was lying in bed. Mrs. Clara Laporte heard her screams and put out the flames. Mrs. McDonald was taken to the City Hospital.

Body of Man Found in Woods

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 5.—The body of a well-dressed man, declared by the police to be apparently the victim of murder, was found today in the woods not far from the home of the late Judge Willis S. Knowles in Scituate, who was slain near his home two months ago.

James W. O'Connor came upon the unidentified body today while hunting three or six weeks.

The place where the body was found was on the estate owned by Albert J. Farrow, about a mile from where Judge Knowles was shot dead on Labor Day. Sheriff Andrew J. Wilcox and Medical Examiner H. W. Smith of Scituate immediately went to the spot.

About a half a mile through a dense stretch of woods at a little clearing the body was found buried in the ground with only the skull visible.

"The body was that of a man of about six feet, and from the manner of examination of the clothing it was the opinion of the officials that it was not the body of a hunter, nor the body of a laboring man. A well-made black suit was found near the body, and the shoes and clothing were of good maintenance."

Medical Examiner Smith, after he had examined the body in his machine five boys, four of whom were injured appeared in the Somerville Police Court today to answer to the charge of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and he was held in $500 bonds for a hearing, November 10.

Official Court Is Begun in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—When the official count of the ballots cast in Tuesday's election began today the Republican leaders claimed that S. H. Merrow was elected by 1,474, according to figures compiled at headquarters. Supporters of former Congressman A. S. Hanley declared the official count would show their candidate winner by 1,465. Unofficial, incomplete returns give Hanley a majority of approximately 1,500.

Land Gift for President and His Fiancee

By International News Service. EARLE, Ark., Nov. 5.—The thousand acres of land will be presented to President Wilson and Mrs. Galt as a wedding gift by an organization of land owners of this section. The owners met today and voted unanimously to make the gift and to have the land deeded to both the President and the future Mrs. Wilson.

The land faces the Mississippi River on one side and the St. Francis River on the other. It is well protected by a levee system. It is an ideal location for a hunting preserve.

United States Senator James P. Clark was chosen to carry the deed for the land to Washington.

Villa Abandons Agua Prieta Attack

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—General Villa has definitely abandoned his attack on Agua Prieta and is now making his campaign with the view of attacking Mexico City, according to a report to the War Department today from General Punton at Douglas, Ariz.

Villa's entire force will be moved first to Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, then to either Chihuahua or Matamoros, on the coast. Villa will direct his attack on the capital from one of the coast towns.

SAY SUM WAS PAD BY FOSS

District Attorney Pelletier today not-prosecuted Dennis D. Driscoll's charge of conspiracy against former Governor Foss. This stopped an inquiry into the case by the Grand Jury, which was to have begun his investigation today.

Mr. Pelletier said: "Mr. Driscoll and Ex-Governor Foss, through their counsel, Melvin M. Johnson and John P. Feeney, joined in a request that no further proceedings be taken in the Driscoll-Foss charges."

"Inasmuch as the entire matter arose in the heat of a political campaign, and as both parties have agreed to forget the incident, the Grand Jury has requested me to not prosecute the case, which I have done."

Angela Glato, Held for Attack on Minio Spananato on the Street Today

Angela Glato, twenty-four years old, of Charlestown, shot and severely wounded Minio Spananato, her former sweetheart, near Bunker Hill and Main streets, Charlestown, today. Later she was arraigned in Charlestown Court, charged with shooting Spananato, and was held without bail to await the outcome of his injury.

Spananato is at the relief station with two bullets in the left arm and left shoulder, and in a critical condition from loss of blood. He has refused to tell the police of the doctor at the hospital his address or to give any explanation of the attack.

Miss Glato, however, declared that she had been a former sweetheart, that she had been quarreling with him since their quarrel he had been annoying her. She declared, the police say, that he was with her this morning with the deliberate intention of shooting him.

James P. Carr, detective at the Charlestown police station, and Leo Leider, engineer on the destroyer Tripps, were at the corner of Bunker Hill street and Sullivan street, when Spananato passed. They saw the young woman hurry along after him. She had just caught up with him. As she passed Carr and Leider drew a revolver from under her coat. Before Carr or Leider could interfere she began to shoot. She had fired four shots before Carr and Leider seized her, wrestling with her to get the revolver away.

At the first shot Spananato ran, but not before he was twice wounded. He had down Bunker Hill toward Sullivan square. The two men wrestling with the young woman thought he must have escaped. It was half an hour before he was found, engaged in a doorway at the foot of Bunker Hill, and unconscious.

The young woman told Carr, after he and Leider had succeeded in getting the revolver from her, that Spananato had been visiting in her home on Bunker Hill street, and was coming to see her. She said she was not sure if she had shot him if he didn't stay away.

Arrest on Charge of Assault With Brick

James Labord of Lantana street, West Roxbury, was arrested today by the police of the West Roxbury station, charged with assaulting Fred Wilson of Webster street, Roxbury, with a brick. Wilson is at the City Hospital and it is feared that his skull is fractured. The assault was alleged to have been committed in front of Labord's home, in an argument over money.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER PLEADS GUILTY

Frank P. Wellman, the twenty-year-old highwayman who has been terrorizing Somerville and Malden for the past week, holding up women and robbing them of their handbags, appeared before Judge Wentworth in the Somerville Police Court today.

He pleaded guilty to four charges of highway robbery and was held for the Grand Jury in the sum of $1,000.

The Grand Jury was sitting at East Cambridge, and when Assistant District Attorney O'Donnell heard of the case he immediately put it before them with the result that a bill was returned against Wellman indicting him in eight counts for larceny from the person, attempted larceny from the person and robbery.

Wellman in the police court pleaded guilty to holding up and robbing Miss Killy Chapin of No. 91 Thurston street of $2 on October 24. The same day he also held up Mrs. William L. Whittaker of No. 115 Josephine avenue, and took her handbag. Mrs. Elizabeth Pryor of No. 5 Haverwood street, Roxbury, was held up by Wellman on the night of October 25. He pleaded guilty of robbing her of $2 and her handbag.

He also pleaded guilty of holding up Miss Killy Kenna on Saturday night, October 25, on Thurston street, and robbing her of $2. In the latter Wellman used a revolver to make his victim hand over her money.

An additional charge of stealing $40 in money from "Ducklake" street, who was formerly employed him, was preferred, and Wellman also pleaded guilty to this charge.

The Middlesex Grand Jury brought in thirty-five other true bills and five no bills.

Major British troops have been landed at Salonika, and two divisions (40,000 men) are now advancing to the Bulgarian front to co-operate with the allied fleet is still bombarding the Bulgarian port of Dedeagatch at its terminals.

REPORTS OF MARCHES.

The whole population of Serbia is being massacred and the country turned into a desolate waste as the Austro-German troops advance, say a Geneva dispatch to the Paris Journal. The dispatch follows:

The following statement was given out:

"The British divisions are advancing toward the Serbian battlefront to co-operate with the French against the Bulgarians. Their forces will soon be augmented by a powerful army which is being landed."

"Germans massacred en masse the population of Duxovo, a small city in the Balkans, and the women and children were killed indiscriminately. Witnesses say the German soldiers were laughing as they were killing without knowing why."

There was a general massacre at Kocani, a small town in Macedonia, where the Germans killed the men, women, children, helpless old men and invalids were taken from their beds and

The French front now extends to Mount Mabrouk and eastward to Krivopalak. French reinforcements have been sent to the Bulgarians, defending the narrow passes. The Bulgarians have been checked there after the most ferocious fighting. Twenty thousand Serbian troops are on Albanian soil to suppress any uprising.

King Ferdinand, a popular ruler, has been forced to flee into the north and the Anglo-French forces are now in a position to complete annihilation of the Serbian army of the north is possible, unless the Anglo-French forces are able to take their way through.

SERBS RETREAT A VICTORY.

A defeat, however, has been inflicted upon the Bulgarians at Javor.

Serbia, by the Serbs, it was officially announced today by the Serbian legation at Athens, and reported on Thursday that the Bulgarians had occupied Javor after a hard fight.

The following report on the operations of the Army of the Orient, was issued by the Paris War Office:

BRUSSELS, NOV. 5.—The capture of trench from the French northeast of the town of Avesnes, Champagne and the repulse of a Russian assault on the bridge of Dvinsk were officially announced today by the War Office.

The text of the official War Office statement follows:

The British commander-in-chief, Sir "Black" Bull, said:

"It is a man selected from the community lists of seven German battalions, which took part in the fighting at Loos that their losses were at least 80 per cent. of their effectives engaged."

"This is pure invention.

The occupation of the Serbian railway towns of Paracin, forty-three miles north of Nish, is reported from Belgrade. It lies at the junction of the Belgrade-Sofia Railway and a railway running through northeastern Serbia to the Rumanian frontier.

TELLS HOW THE JOY LINE WAS DISPOSED OF

By E. V. B. BUCKNER.
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—That the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad after a vigorous rate cutting campaign finally succeeded in obtaining control of the stock of the principal rival, the Joy line, was related in the New Haven conspiracy trial today by Frank M. Dunbaugh, who was first general manager of the standard line. Dunbaugh was on the stand when court adjourned yesterday.

The New Haven acquired the Joy line in 1905 and Charles A. Mellen, who at that time had returned to the New Haven as its president, engineered the deal. The New Haven paid $750,000 for the Joy line control which with commissions had brought the total price up to $850,000, said Dunbaugh.

When the New Haven acquired the Joy line Dunbaugh was retained and made president.

"Mr. Mellen told me," said Dunbaugh, "to run the line exactly as I ran it before we sold out. He told me to pay no attention to any New Haven men but himself. I was to use the same Joy line and to conduct the business independently as though it were my own."

RAN FOR TWO YEARS.
"How long did you run the line in that manner?" asked James W. Osborn, for the government.

"About two years," said the witness.

Dunbaugh said the Joy line, after its purchase by the New Haven, ran into Providence. Before that their boats had not made Providence.

In that line of operations, said the witness, the Joy boats were in competition with two other lines, the Worcester line and the Enterprise line. In the New York-New Haven traffic the Joy line was in competition to the Atlantic line.

The Joy line, the New Haven controlled, bought out the Worcester line. "It did not amount to much," said Dunbaugh.

"What income of the Enterprise line?" demanded Osborn.

"It went out of business," said Dunbaugh.

BETTER PROTEST.
"Oh, no," said Osborn, "it went into bankruptcy."

There was vigorous and bitter objection and denunciations from the defense lawyers. Osborn was sworn by Judge Hunt, and withdrew his remarks.

Dunbaugh was allowed to explain that the Enterprise line went out of business in 1907.

The witness said Mellen called him to New Haven and told him the New Haven Railroad Company had decided to give up the Joy line.

The six boats of the line, said Dunbaugh, first were transferred to a concern known as the United States Transportation Company. From this corporation the boats were given over to the Hartford & New York Transportation Company, a New Haven subsidiary company.

"Thus, according to the evidence of Dunbaugh, the New Haven's manipulations succeeding in obtaining the Joy line stock, put the line out of existence and acquired the property for another New Haven possession."

THE COM. CALLS STREET WORK 'UNFAIR'

Unwarranted expense in using a costly type of street construction on Birch street, West Roxbury, is charged in a special report made to Mayor Curley by the Finance Commission today.

This report follows an investigation held at the request of property owners on Birch street in which it was alleged that the work was not being done according to specifications. They further asserted that high-priced bituminous pavement costing $2.25 a yard was being installed there, when bituminous macadam costing only 55 cents a yard was called for.

The Finance Commission, in its report to Mayor Curley today, holds that the extra cost of using such high-priced investment will be $2,096. It also sets at $2,448 the minimum overcharge that will be levied upon the abutting property owners as a result of this type of construction.

Because of the urgent need of permanent highway pavements on the principal streets of the city, the commission declares, this is an unwarranted expense and unfair to the abutting property owners. The commission says:

CASE FOR COMPLAINT.
"The city officials in charge of the work have stated that the work was done according to specifications, with the exception of a piece of shallow fill which was thoroughly relaid by the paving and grading of the city and employed in the work. It is this shallow fill which the abutting owners called for placement in six-inch layers of concrete, as to size, quality and grade of fill."

Let me say here that all our guests are very enthusiastic over this opportunity to show the public of Boston and vicinity that the very finest apples in the world come from the Berkshire.

You can assure your customers that every barrel, from top to bottom, will be a delight to them. Yours truly, L. L. King

LIVELY TRAFFIC ON STREET.
"The portion of Birch street in question probably has as small a traffic passing through it as any street in the city Boston, and there is no indication that it will ever be extensively used as a public highway. Birch street is practically level, except for a short distance of about 100 feet near Park street and another distance of about 300 feet near Dudley avenue, so that there will be no access wear on account of erosion during rain storms."

"Bituminous macadam, as suggested by the abutting owners, would last for many years under the conditions existing on Birch street, and there was no necessity to use expensive bituminous pavement at a cost of $2.25 a square yard."

BRITAIN ATTACKS THE PRESIDENT'S DEFENCE POLICY

Says It Is a Complete Reversal, a Menace to Peace and a Challenge to Christianity.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Former Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, in a lengthy prepared statement, issued today, takes issue with President Wilson's program of preparedness.

The action of the former Secretary was accepted in administration circles today as meaning the opening of the breach between the President and his former chief supporter on matters of national interest.

"I view the President's speech in New York with sorrow and concern," says Bryan in his opening. "He is doing only what he feels to be his duty, and when a man does his duty, I cannot criticize his motives, but I am compelled to dissent from his conclusions."

Bryan's entire statement challenges the general policy of preparedness as enunciated by the President. He characterized the plan as suggested by the chief executive as being a complete reversal of "Our National Policy," and a menace to "Our Peace and Liberty" and a challenge to the spirit of Christianity.

He declares that it constitutes a false philosophy and must inevitably lead the United States into difficulties.

ACCEPTED AS CHALLENGE.

Bryan takes occasion to attack the membership of the Manhattan Club in his statement, declaring that he "hoped the President would not be deceived by its atmosphere." He declared that the club was the one place in the United States where the "mammalian warshiping portion of the Democratic party meets to exchange congratulations on the death of a man who was no place farther removed from the sentiment of the masses 'whether measured by economical, sociological or religious standards'."

In connection with the Bryan statement, high administration officials declared after reading it that they were certain that President Wilson knew that it would be issued. At the last conference between the President and his former premier, the latter expressed notice that he would strenuously oppose increased expenditures for the army and the navy.

And the administration chiefs have declared that they felt certain that it was Bryan the President had in mind the night when he declared that those who differ with him are to be asked how far and in what way they are interested in making the permanent interests of the country safe against destruction.

Friends of Bryan and of the President accepted the statement of the former following immediately as if it had been the President's own speech at the opening of a battle that will be carried to the floor of Congress when that body meets and which will have an important effect on the next national campaign.

BRYAN'S STATEMENT.

The text of the Bryan statement was as follows:

I have read the President's speech at New York with sorrow and concern. He is doing what he really believes to be his duty and so I am not a man to follow his conclusion, and judgment, we cannot criticize his motives, but we may be compelled to dissent from his conclusions. I feel it my duty to dissent, and as he has given his views with clearness and emphasis those who differ from him are under a like obligation to express themselves with equal clearness.

He says that his position is different from that of the private individual, in that the individual is free to speak his own thoughts and risk his own opinion. This sentence is a little obscure.

Insofar as he expresses his own opinion, he does not differ from the private citizen except that he speaks under a sense of official responsibility, but where a nation's fate is involved in a policy, every private citizen who loves his country and tries to serve it is conscious of responsibility.

The President will not assume the duty to be more deeply interested in the welfare of his country than the millions who elected him to be at the time being their spokesman. And as he evidently believes he is giving voice to the opinion of his countrymen, he is of course anxious to have them as frank with him as he has been with them—how otherwise can he know whether he represents or misrepresents their views?

WHOLLY NEW POLICY.

He has announced a policy which has never before been adopted in this country and never endorsed by any party in the country. And he has no way of knowing, until he hears from the people whether he has correctly interpreted the will of the public.

From my view of the subject

the plan, which he proposes is not only a departure from our traditional policy, it is not only a menace to our peace and safety, but a challenge to the spirit of Christianity which teaches us to influence others by example rather than by exciting fear.

The President says that we should prepare "not for aggression but for defense." That is the ground upon all preparation for war is made. What nation has ever prepared for war on the theory that it was preparing for aggression?

It is only fair to assume that the European rulers who are involved in the present war thought they were contributing toward the maintenance of peace when they were making elaborate preparations for defense.

It is a false philosophy, and having false, it inevitably leads into difficulties.

AGAIN—PEACE AND TRICK.

The spirit that makes the individual carry a revolver—and who ever carries a revolver except for defense?—leads him not only to use it on slight provocation, but to use language which provokes trouble. "Speak softly, but carry a big stick" is one of the deceptive maxims employed by those who put their faith in force.

There are two answers to it. First the man who speaks softly is not the disposition to carry a club and if a man with a soft voice is persuaded to carry a club, he will change as soon as he begins to rely upon the club. This nation has won its position in the world without testing a pistol or carrying a club; why revolutionize our policy?

It is a false philosophy, and having false, it inevitably leads into difficulties.

EVIL AN EXAMPLE.

If we are not threatened by any nation, why in this time chosen to revolutionize our national policy, and to exchange our policy for the policy of Europe? Why abandon the hope that we have long entertained of seeing an example in Europe? May we not expect all nations to follow our example in preparation if we enter upon a new era of preparation? And will not such a policy make confidence between those republics more difficult?

We shall do infinite harm to the neighboring states as well as to ourselves. If we are drawn into a preparation which is impossible, and the arousing of a military spirit of seeking an outlet for the standards of honor.

We are following more than $225,000,000 a year on preparedness—far more than we are spending on agriculture—and we feel sure that the taxpayers are not in favor of increasing this cost at this time when a change is not only unnecessary, but a menace to our national life.

There has not been a time in fifty years when there was less reason to add to the expense of the army and navy, for we are not only without an enemy, but we are not only without an enemy, but we are not only without an enemy, but we are preparations is increasing as with other nations exhaust themselves.

And there never has been a time in our whole history when war duty to the world, more imperatively demanded self-restraint and the common sense.

I hope the President will not be deceived by the atmosphere of the Manhattan Club. That is the one place in the United States where the mammalian-warshiping portion of the Democratic party meets to exchange congratulations on the death of a man who was no place farther removed from the sentiment of the masses 'whether measured by economical, sociological or religious standards'."

Boy Loses Fur Coat to Confidence Man

Charles Watts, sixteen years old, an errand boy employed by George L. Griffin & Son, furriers, at No. 219 Washington street, lost a fur coat, valued at $75, early today, through the work of a confidence man. The boy was carrying the coat to R. P. Jones, No. 13 Newbury street, when he was approached by a man at the Park street subway entrance who asked him to deliver a message to a woman in a building nearby, offering to hold the bundle. The boy, of course, could not find the woman, and what was more unfortunate, he couldn't find the man with his bundle.

SAFETY - AT - SEA PROVISION IS SUSPENDED

By International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Wilson has signed an executive order suspending the "safety-at-sea" provision of the LaFollette seaman's act, insofar as it affects foreign-built vessels. It was announced today at the Department of Commerce. This action was taken at the request of the Secretary of Commerce.

The "safety-at-sea" provision was contained in section 14 of the seaman's bill and called for the maintenance of certain numbers of lifeboats, life rafts and similar equipment.

The executive order suspending that portion of the act was in line with the President's order of September 4, 1914, which suspended navigation laws of foreign-built vessels which were entered under American registry by the emergency act of August 14, 1914.

EXPECT 40 MORE ARRESTS IN BOMB PLOT

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—That the alleged conspiracy to destroy ships carrying ammunition to the allies included German agents in every section of importance in the eastern section of the United States was the unqualified assertion made today by William Flynn, chief of the United States secret service.

Chief Flynn declared that Italians, when tons of canned goods are shipped weekly to the allies, had been chosen as the scene of staggering dynamite operations on the ships plying between this country and Europe.

It is expected that forty more arrests in the German bomb plot will be made in the immediate future. So far the ramifications of the plot shown themselves to be, that the authorities are now confident that Hubert Fay and Walter Scholz, two of the alleged conspirators under arrest here, have not told nearly as much as they know.

British Steamer Off Halifax Is Reported Afire

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 5.—A vessel believed to be the British steamer Rio Lagos is reported on fire 200 miles south of Halifax in a wireless message received here late from the Danish steamer Frederick VIII.

Captain Thompson reported to the marine and fisheries agent of the Dominion government here that at 4:20 p. m. Thursday, Greenwich time, he had named the N. lat. 41:54, W. lat. 59:35, a British steamer flying signals "K, S, V, V," with a fire in her hold, and adding that it is reported to Halifax.

The signals correspond to those of the Rio Lagos, which left New York for Queenstown October 31. The Rio Lagos registers 2,511 tons and was built at South Shields in 1908. She is owned by Peterson & Co., Ltd., of London.

Officials of the Canadian Marine Department believe the Rio Lagos is in no danger, but they have been trying to get into communication with the vessel by wireless. The New York agents have received no direct report from the steamer, which they say carries sugar only.

CHECK LIQUOR FIRE ATTACKS BY GERMANS

By CHARLES F. BERTRELL.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—German troops renewed their attacks at La Courbe in the Champagne district, but two of their assaults were quelled, the French War Office announced this afternoon.

The Germans again used liquid fire and then rushed forward with grenades, only to be thrown back.

The following communique was issued at the War Office:

"Between the Aisne and the Oise in the sector of Fismes and Quenoverre, the enemy after having attempted to storm the fortifications of our trenches by a sharp rifle fire, directed upon our position a bombardment that was violent but ineffective."

"In Champagne, we completely checked very new German attacks with grenades against our trenches at La Courbe which were again supported by the throwing of burning shells."

"There is nothing to report on the Aisne. One of our air squadrons flew over Dornach and squandered the fuel of its engine in the seeking of emptying gas."

FLEE URGES A SLIDING SCALE ON FARES

Edward A. Fleen has written a letter to the Public Service Commission in regard to the hearing on the proposed Bay State Street Railway fare increase. Mr. Fleen urges the adoption of a sliding scale system "by which the lowering of fares entitles the railway company to lesser dividends, and increasing the fare requires a cutting down of the dividends." The letter follows:

Dear Sir:—I had hoped to be present at the hearing in regard to a recent fare and personally outline a suggestion for your consideration, but I find my work calls me out of town for an indefinite period. I am, therefore, taking this method of presenting my views to you on the subject.

It seems to me that the people, the passengers of the railways are primarily interested in good service and a just fare, and that the interest in ascertaining that its capital investment will not be impaired, and that its income thereon will be assured, steady and fair.

OFFERS SLIDING SCALE.
Personally, I believe from my experience that the people will not object to an extra good return on the capital of the railways in the shape of dividends, provided they are convinced that the management and the financing are honest and efficient and that the extra dividends are the result of extra good service and extra good management.

All these desirable ends will, in my judgment, be very much helped by a sliding scale system, a system by which the lowering of fares entitles the railway company to higher dividends, and increasing the fare requires a cutting down of the dividends.

This sliding scale system has been tried in this city for the last ten years by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, and I think that it has been for the benefit of the public and also of the gas company.

It has the additional and valuable quality that it helps to take the public service companies out of politics.

ONE IN CLEVELAND.
It is true, as far as I know, that this sliding scale system has not as yet been applied fully to any railways in this country. There is a sliding scale in Cleveland, which applies, however, only to the rise and fall of fares. While securing an agreed return for the railway, it makes no provision for a rise and fall in dividends.

This latter feature, in my judgment, ought to be provided for, and I understand an attempt is being made to introduce such a provision in the city of Toledo. I shall not attempt to enter into the details of the system in the form of the city, as I feel sure that the commission is familiar with them, or in any event can procure the facts and documents, or even get officials or railway experts from those cities to testify before its members.

I trust you will decide to consider the question of sliding scale for street railways in making your report, and I should like to assure you if I can be of any further use to you on my return I shall be glad to be so.

I am, yours very truly,
EDWARD A. FLEEN.

Manager of the Studebaker Corporation, is entertaining a number of factory officials this week in the person of L. J. Giller, vice-president in charge of sales in R. H. Hodgkin, sales manager; James G. Hensley, vice-president and director of manufacturing, and F. R. Bump, manager of the New York branch.

The factory delegation arrived in Boston yesterday from Detroit in order to attend a general meeting of the New England Studebaker dealers, which will be held in this city today. Dealers and agents from all over the New England territory will be in attendance at this gathering to hear the factory officials define in detail the policy of the Studebaker Corporation.

It is understood that the new issue of Chandler stock has been over-subscribed, and that the brokers could deliver 50 per cent. more of the stock than has been placed on the market if it were possible to secure the same.

There is no question in the minds of those who were present at the hearing before the street commissioners yesterday, but what in the very near future that body will decide upon some method by which traffic in the streets of Boston will be more properly controlled than it is at the present time.

The board, while expressing no official opinion, had presented to it sufficient evidence to convince it that the safety of the general public, as well as the relief of traffic, requires some immediate action upon its part. It would not be at all surprising if, within the next thirty days, the board publishes some new and desirable regulations governing not only vehicles, but also foot traffic.

There's Soon to Be a Climax to the Price Situation in DOMESTIC RUGS

In the meantime we advise "BUY NOW"

Our present stock of domestic rugs while quite large cannot last forever. When they are gone we shall be obliged to advance our prices.

In rather slangy words which best express the thought, "manufacturers are up against it." The rug manufacturers particularly are having more and more difficulty as the European war wears on in securing raw materials—and when they do secure them it is only at fabulous prices.

The securing of proper dyes is the rug manufacturers' knottiest problem. We know of one instance where a well known rug manufacturer was recently obliged to pay an advance of over 100% on certain necessary dyes.

While our present stock of Domestic Rugs remains we will continue to sell at our present prices, but when we must necessarily reorder we shall be obliged to increase our selling prices.

We have on hand about 35 size 9x12 Bigelow Balkan Rugs of high pile in Oriental design. The original values of these rugs are 60.00 each, while they last we offer them at $37.50.

ASKS LANSING'S AID FOR SHIP IN NEW YORK

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The following appeal has been forwarded to the State Department by T. Henry Graham, who holds a charter for the American steamship Winnebago, now loading cargo in New York.

"New York, Nov. 4, 1915. "Hon. Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir:—The situation regarding the American steamship Winnebago has become to me a desperate one. I am under obligation to pay my freight money and also demurrage for extra days which must be paid by me according to charter.

"The steamer is only half loaded, due to the cancellation of freight at ready book, owing to the threat of the British Admiralty, and I cannot secure more freight because the ship is afraid of seizure of the ship and cargo.

"The shippers now having cargo on board are demanding that goods be discharged and are threatening suit for damages on account of the unwarranted delay in the sailing of the ship.

"The daily expenses for pier hire, clerks, watchmen, etc., are considerable and although we are not loading any cargo at present they insist that I have one man on guard by day and night.

"If I am obliged to unload cargo I will have to rebook same with competitive lines at much higher rates than those charged on the steamer Winnebago and the losses to us will be enormous. On the other hand many reliable American shippers have offered to fill my steamer if they can be assured of our government's protection and immunity from capture by the British Admiralty.

"Can you give us assurance of such protection which on its publicity is required, so that we can secure the necessary freight money and allow the steamer to proceed to Sweden and Denmark as scheduled?

EARLE MARRIED TO HIS FOURTH 'AFFINITY'

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Ferdinand "Fatty" Earle, the man who made the word "affinity" famous, has again promised to forever love, honor and cherish a wife, as yet forth in the conventional marriage ritual, it has been known yesterday.

The latest bride, the fourth in the course of twelve years, is Miss Charlotte Herman, of Hutterford, N. J., who has been his companion through many vicissitudes, including stints in Dutch and French prisons, since 1913.

The marriage ceremony was performed on the evening of October 7, at Oceanic N. Y. by Rev. Dr. Charles Fox, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Hatterford, N. J., where Mr. and Mrs. Earle are now living with their daughter, ten months old.

In announcing the ceremony, which was another splash of color to Mr. Earle's large career of many years, he said last night that "the union" had been a "great fact" and that the immediate families of both parties knew of the action and were "truly glad."

If this is true, it becomes a change of heart on the part of Mrs. Earle's father, who threatened to disown the artist bodily when he first learned that his daughter had shipped with him.

Boy of 15 in an Auto Runs Down a Horse Thief

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—A fifteen-year-old boy in a youthful Paul Harvey resulted early today in the apprehension of a horse thief who had made away with a team belonging to a livery stable.

A week ago Edward Carter of Philadelphia was given employment at the stable. When Carter and one of the best horses in the stable had been stabled about about six hours, Larry Schlegel, the fifteen-year-old son of the stable owner, taking his own counsel, chartered an automobile.

Touching the Baltimore trap and overhauling Carter, he compelled the surrender at the point of a revolver to enter the automobile and lead the horse, chained by the long drive, back to Laurel, Md., where they brought Carter to this city and delivered him over to the police.

6 Men Injured in Dayton, N. Y., Fire

GOVANDIA, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Six volunteer firemen were slightly injured and damage of $100.00 was caused early today by a fire which destroyed the business section of Dayton, four miles from here. Eight houses were burned before the fire turned itself out.

$100,000 FOR SUFFRAGE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—New York woman suffrage leaders today were jubilant over the fact that already only three days after their defeat at the polls, they have $100,000 with which to carry on the fight.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw of the woman suffrage party, who has long been at the fore for the cause, thus explained to what use the women will put the money already pledged:

"We will use the bulk of the $100,000 for reorganization purposes. This fight has just begun. We plan to reorganize our workers into legislative and assembly district units. Most of our money will be spent in work in the Assembly, where we are confident we will win again having equal suffrage submitted to the voters.

In addition, the woman suffrage party of New York will use their influence and money to back the national woman suffrage party which for twenty-five years has fought bravely for a constitutional amendment.

In the session of Congress to begin next month, Senator Thomas of Colorado and Representative Mondell of Wyoming will introduce equal suffrage amendments in the Senate and House.

At Washington, and we will join heart, soul and pocketbook in that fight."

NEXT CAMPAIGN PLANNED BY SUFFRAGISTS

Following an enthusiastic rally at Faneuil Hall, the suffragists today are laying out their plans for next year's campaign, which is to start at once.

Mrs. Gertrude Halliday Leonard presided at the rally, and announced unsolicited contributions of $100 since election.

Samuel L. Powers predicted a triumph for the cause in two or three years, and Alice Stone Blackwell called the minority vote "the hand writing on the wall."

Other speakers were Mrs. Theresa A. Crowley, chairman of the legislative committee; Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Suffolk county chairman; Mrs. George J. Johnson, Middlesex county chairman; Louis D. Brandeis and Ernest Adams of Worcester.

Motherhood Strike Plea for Suffrage

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A "motherhood strike" will be begun by women of non-suffrage States until they are given the franchise if a suggestion of Mrs. Sara Bard Field is further acted upon.

"I know of women who have devised themselves the privilege of motherhood until they receive the vote," declared Mrs. Field.

SOLDIER ACCUSED IN RIVER TRAGEDY IS BEFORE COURT

William H. McFadden, West Bridgewater murder victim, and Mrs. Ethel Sears, his housekeeper, who will be an important witness in the trial of John Brown, accused of the crime.

BROCKTON, Nov. 5.—John Brown, an alleged deserter from the Coast Artillery, was given a hearing today in the local court on the charge of murdering William H. McFadden, whose body was found in Skunk River, West Bridgewater.

The case was continued until November 11. Brown was taken to Plymouth Jail. Neither Mrs. Ethel Sears nor Miss Alice Ellis, nineteen, both of Bridgewater and expected to figure as witnesses, was in court. Mrs. Sears was formerly a housekeeper for McFadden. Miss Ellis told the police Brown called at her home last Sunday night. The police say a photograph of Miss Ellis was found in one of Brown's pockets. So far as known, the police have not definitely established a motive for the crime with which they charge Brown.

Several theories have been advanced, one of which was robbery. Edward Parada, who found the body, said the pockets of the man's clothing were turned inside out.

Brown was represented in court today by William F. Kane, who was assigned to the case by the court.

Linoleum Trade Balance with U. S.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—For the first time in history the balance of trade in linoleum oil cloth has swung to the export side, in favor of the American manufacturer, and great opportunities now are available in this line, the Department of Commerce today announced.

Until this year, imports of these articles have been about double exports. In eight months of the present calendar year the exports totaled $225,000, a rate of about $1,000,000 a year, and the imports only $225,000.

The Great Story of the Year

Jack London has done something original in "The Star Rover," and done it supremely well. He has hit upon a new idea in fiction.

"The Star Rover" is essentially a man's book, all virility and no sentiment, with passages of more serious thinking than we are wont to expect from popular novels. The book has imagination, skill, freshness, and must stand with the best of this author's works.—The New York Times.

THIS great story—admittedly, now that it is out in book form, the greatest of the year—first appeared in the American Sunday Magazine.

It is typical of the high quality of fiction you will always find in the American Sunday Magazine.

It is one more proof of the fact that you always find there, not only the best authors, but the best stories of the best authors.

"The Star Rover" is our great new serial by Arthur B. Reeves, is still further proof of this fact, for it is not only one of the best stories of this best mystery writer, but promises to be one of the great stories of this year.

"The Star Rover" has all the vitality, the tense grip of situation and action, that have been so characteristic of Mr. Reeves' vivid short stories, but all elaborated to novel length and all woven around one of the most gripping themes of all fiction—the great secret police "System" of New York City.

You must read this remarkable novel. You must not fail to begin it at once.

The second instalment (with full synopsis of the first instalment) appears in the November issue of the

PLAN: EUGENICS ORDINANCE FOR PATERSON

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 3.—The Health Commission plans to obtain an ordinance requiring from each person applying for a license to marry a certificate from a physician showing freedom from disease communicable to children. Dr. Thomas A. Clay, city health physician, has introduced a measure emphasizing the fact that many children born in hospitals have diseases inherited from their parents. These statistics cover not only Paterson, but other city hospitals and asylums.

The proposed ordinance, according to Health Commissioner Nathan Robinson, will probably be introduced at the next meeting on Tuesday. The members of the board have spent much time discussing the matter, and the contemplated regulation has the approval of the entire body.

MOTHER'S DEATH LED TO DISGRACE OF SOLDIER

LONDON, Nov. 3.—One of the most tragic stories of the war is revealed in the publication in the official London Gazette of the order dismissing from the service Lieutenant-Colonel St. Ryan of the first Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Lieutenant-Colonel Ryan was the holder of several war medals and was formerly an officer in the United States army. He had spent nine months in the trenches and was wounded three times.

He obtained a short leave of absence to see his mother, who had been ill for some time, to see her only son before he was wounded again, since she believed that a fourth wound would be fatal.

The mother died from New York and the lieutenant-colonel left the trenches in France and came to England to see her. The mother died aboard the steamer a day before he reached Liverpool and Lieutenant-Colonel Ryan, who met the vessel in Liverpool, received the body of his mother, already a nervous wreck, and came to London unbidden of everything and disappeared the order for his return to the front.

FEAR, WAR PLOT IN BRAINTREE PLANT FIRE

The authorities today are seeking the cause of the mysterious fire that caused a damage estimated by insurance at $70,000 to the plant of the East Braintree Blackstone, owned by Henry McCusker, which has been running since the fire was caused on the morning of the 28th.

The plant has been at work on orders for some time and recently closed several additional large orders for gun cotton. It is anticipated that the work, machinery valued at $15,000 had just been installed. This was destroyed by the fire, together with cotton awaiting treatment, valued at $40,000.

On account of the rush of business the night hands employed at the plant worked last night until 5 o'clock. On account of attempts to blow up the plant, working for the allies, Mr. McCusker remained behind until 11 o'clock to see that everything was all right for the night.

It had already reached here when a boy saw one of the buildings ablaze and ran to Mr. McCusker's house. On the arrival of the town department the fire was under control. It is probable that the buildings will be immediately rebuilt.

Doctors Scare Sick Man Out of the Hospital

Early today a man applied for admission to the Massachusetts General Hospital. After an examination, the doctors found he had a wound in his head that needed stitches, and escorted him to the operating room.

While waiting in the instrument room he was left lying on the operating table. The man watched the doctors curiously, but when they approached him with needles and instruments he ran from the room.

The man was later found in the street, and was taken to the hospital. He was found to be suffering from a severe case of insanity, and was committed to the hospital.

SEEK FEDERAL PROBE REPORTS VILLA SHOT AMERICANS

James A. Smyth, the federal commissioner and in Boston to the secretary of James Wilson to investigate the killing of four Americans in the battle between Villa and the American soldiers at Vera Cruz.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Senate Department has received confirmation of the killing of four Americans in the battle between Villa and the American soldiers at Vera Cruz.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The sympathy of the majority of army officers with Villa has caused much concern to the Senate Department by a protest to the Senate Department by the Carranza conservatives. It is alleged by the friends of the chief that both here and on the border the army as a whole is in sympathy with Villa and is unwilling to do battle with Carranza.

The State and War Departments have ordered an investigation of the report that four Americans, Dr. H. H. Tilden, an Miller and J. P. H. and A. L. Wilson, chauffeurs, were killed by Carranza while assisting the wounded at Agua Prieta and that Villa has executed a number of Americans who had incurred his displeasure.

The reports of federal Boston on the situation in the Brownsville region and if so far in front of Villa, coupled with various other reports, have led to the belief that an army of Carranza is in the process of responsibility for all of the border trouble on Carranza's side.

The Carranza constitutionality factors. It is expected that a general election will be held in Carranza's territory. It is expected that Carranza will be elected. Carranza has been elected. Carranza has been elected. Carranza has been elected.

Governor Walsh's Vicarious Atonement

An analysis of the Democratic vote makes clear the truth of what the AMERICAN said on October 4 concerning the endorsement of President Wilson by the Democratic Convention for a second term. That endorsement was in palpable, direct, defiant violation of the Democratic national platform, to which Mr. Wilson himself deliberately, voluntarily, subscribed, and to which he was bound by the highest obligation which can exist in American public life, the obligation to keep a solemn promise made with the people in consideration of their vote. Commenting upon that gratuitous faithlessness to a party promise, the AMERICAN then said:

"In forcing upon Governor Walsh the burden of the present national administration, these politicians in the convention were thinking only of political patronage and not of the interest of their Democratic Governor. In forcing this burden upon Governor Walsh they have deliberately violated the solemn pledge of the last National Democratic Convention. 'This is nothing new for Democratic politicians. Only three years ago more than half of them violated their pledges in the Massachusetts Legislature in order to deliver over to the New Haven Railroad the street railways in more than half of Massachusetts.'"

"Governor Walsh succeeded for nearly two years of his administration in holding his party loyal to its party pledges. In this convention he has failed, and if he is defeated at the polls the Democratic politicians will have sacrificed the best man among them for the sake of a few Federal jobs." This prediction, has proved to be true. Governor Walsh was sacrificed to a sentiment against the national administration on account of shortcomings which were not his own, and over which he had no control. Everywhere throughout the country the elections have repudiated the Wilson administration upon certain fundamental policies. Charles Sumner Bird's support of Mr. Walsh's opponents was avowedly predicated upon his opposition to the Wilson administration. And Mr. Bird's support of Mr. McCall cost Governor Walsh his re-election.

Messrs. Bird, Walker and Burbank

THE thanks which Mr. McCall publicly extended to Mr. Charles Sumner Bird, Mr. Joseph Walker and Mr. Charles E. Burbank, the Progressive leaders, for the support they have given him, and Mr. McCall's public acknowledgment that their support contributed mightily to his election, was not only deserved, but scarcely told the story.

Mr. Bird, Mr. Walker and Mr. Burbank put the props under Mr. McCall which enabled him to bear the burden of the reactionary leaders who controlled the Republican organization.

The price which they exacted for their support was not so much a price as a consideration which they believed meant the salvation of the Republican party. That price or consideration was the Republican promise of a free, open Constitutional Convention. Mr. Bird, Mr. Walker and Mr. Burbank urged upon their Progressive associates the good faith of this platform promise, and the AMERICAN is confident that Mr. McCall will not, if he can help it, see these men humiliated before their Progressive followers by permitting any breach of faith concerning the plank which supported him across the troubled waters.

Mr. Bird, Mr. Walker and Mr. Burbank must not for a moment believe that they discharged their duty when they led their Progressive followers into a victorious camp. The promise by which they were induced to follow Mr. Bird, Mr. Walker and Mr. Burbank has not yet been fulfilled, and it will be the duty of these three gentlemen to do all they can to uphold the hand of Mr. McCall in his effort to carry out this promise, an effort which he may not find so easy after all. Mr. Bird and Mr. Burbank undoubtedly know the unfortunate condition of things, which the Springfield Republican last week revealed, that the Republican candidates for the Legislature were showing very little faith toward the promise of a Constitutional Convention. Neither Mr. Bird nor Mr. Burbank would comment upon the condition so exposed by the Republican, and they therefore took the further responsibility of continuing to urge their followers and their friends to vote the Republican ticket in reliance upon the good faith of that promise.

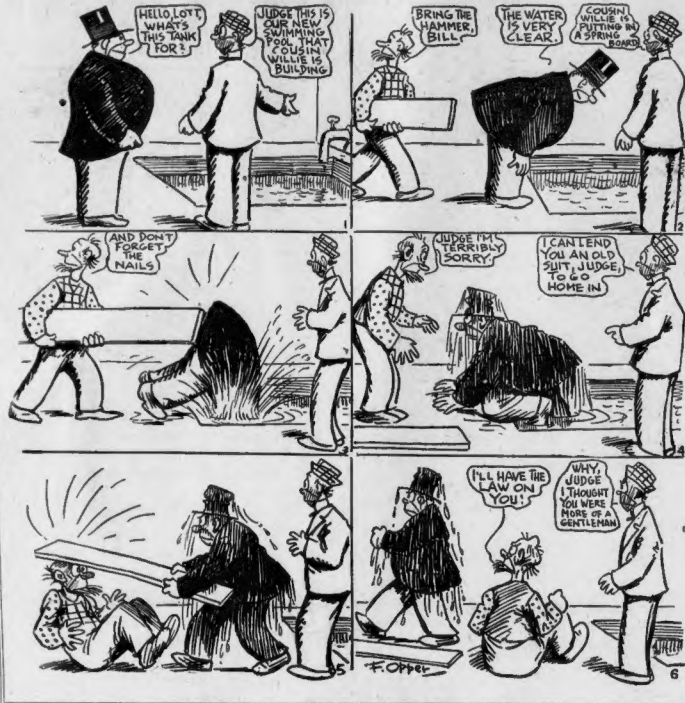

It is a serious and continuing responsibility. Neither of these three men can afford not to put forth his very greatest exertion to secure the fulfillment of this Republican promise of an honest, open, free Constitutional Convention, such as the people of Massachusetts want and such as will enable us to submit to the people a constitution which they will adopt and which will avoid the farcical performance of the New York State Convention under the control of Elihu Root and his Wall Street employees.

The people of Massachusetts are as wise as the people of New York. A constitution framed by such men as Root in Massachusetts will meet the fate of Root's constitution in New York, which the people there buried by more than 300,000 votes.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE; OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

A Rebuke Which Will Raise Political Standards

THE slaughter which the voters of Massachusetts administered to Mr. Donahue, the Democratic candidate for Attorney-General, was well deserved and will help materially to raise the standard among political candidates hereafter.

As the AMERICAN pointed out last week, when this newspaper declared that Mr. Donahue ought to be defeated, the great danger of the direct primary law now lies in the fact that the voters are obliged to guess about the candidates whose names appear upon the ballot at the primaries. This condition is a temptation to immoderate, pushing men. They see in it an opportunity to get cheap advertising at the expense of a great party. They cause their names to be placed upon the ballot, taking a gambler's chance that the choice of a plurality may fall upon their names. Their inconspicuous public service or their incompetence for the office which they seek, does not deter but rather stimulates their ambition, because they have nothing to lose if defeated and everything to gain if, by mere chance, they are successful.

It is obvious that this sort of thing could happen only a few times without disaster to the Democratic party or to any other party where it became a settled practice. For this reason the AMERICAN felt that it was necessary to do what alleged Democratic leaders had not the courage to do, but which EACH ONE of them secretly hoped SOMEBODY ELSE would do, for the party and for the State.

The AMERICAN is not in the habit of hesitating at its duty, and we urged the support of Attorney-General Altshuler because he deserved it, not only negatively by contrast with his opponent, but positively by virtue of his own good record as Attorney-General.

Mr. Donahue's defeat by more than eighty thousand was a slaughter which shows that the Democratic voters mean to be discriminating when they have the information necessary for them to discriminate.

Again we call attention to the necessity of supplementing the direct primary law. We might very profitably study the direct primary law of California, which is working splendidly, and we certainly ought to have a campaign bulletin which would go to all the voters, giving them the information which is necessary on which to base their judgment concerning the candidates at the primary election.

Inklings and Thinkings

Much argument over the question, "What woman caused in Colorado?" More important would be the question, "What did she cause?"

Should a Wife Stand by a Liar?

It Is Hard to Conceive the Type Which Sticks to Degraded Men and Thinks They Do Noble Acts, Says Ella Wheeler Wilcox

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1915, Max Co.

It is, of course, nobody's business when a wife stands by an unfaithful and lying husband, who has humiliated her in the eyes of the whole world by his baseness.

We read in the daily paper incidents of that nature, and some of us say: "How beautiful is such devotion," and some of us say otherwise. There are wives who think it very noble to "stand by" a very bad husband.

There is in the nature of most women a strong tendency to act the part of reforming angel in the life of a man. That is why so many dissolute men find it so easy matter to win paragons of virtue for wives. The wife of such a man always believes she is to guide him into the straight and narrow path of good behavior, and sometimes she does.

It depends upon how much character the man has developed, and how much tact, love and patience the woman possesses. There are women who know how to make a respectable life as fascinating to a man as a life of folly and dissipation.

There are women who know how to keep a man so entertained and occupied with happiness that he finds no time or inclination to return to the paths of the prodigal. It is wise and womanly for a wife to pause and look over her own part in a man's career if he fails to keep the vows he made at the altar before she consigns him to the divorce court.

Many a Woman Can Trace Neglect by Her Husband to Her Own Door, if Honest

Many a good woman can trace a husband's neglect and failure to be loyal to her own door if she is honest with herself. A momentary weakness on the part of an otherwise good and loving husband may well be condoned and a new trial given him without a loss of womanly self-respect.

When, however, a man deliberately plans the wooing and marrying of another woman under another name, when he descends to forgery and innumerable lies and deceptions to bring about such a result—a result which means ruin to the girl and humiliation and disgrace to the wife—and when he is finally exposed and punished, it is hard to conceive the type of a woman who feels that she is doing a noble act to "stand by" her husband and live for him.

A passing fever of the senses some women are able to understand and forgive in a man exposed to peculiar temptations. Fine, noble, strong, true men have fallen temporary victims to such experiences and expiated them in sorrow. But when a man lies, deceives and plots an infidelity for months there would seem to be something wrong with his mind or his whole character.

Only by regarding him as insane and taking the responsibility of his care as a nurse can a wife stand by him and retain her self-respect. Possibly such a woman finds greater happiness in thinking she will save the man from further fall from decency, by leading him, through her self-sacrifice and devotion, to repentance than she could find in any other walk of life, having once been his wife.

In the latter fact lies her colossal sorrow, and however seemingly hopeless work she takes upon herself, with the author of her misery, all women must feel sympathy for her and wish her good-speed in her efforts to make a man out of a mankin, even if they do not respect her for choice of employment.

Some Women Never Show Real Affection for Husband

Till He Breaks Law. But it would be more moral and sensible were she to say she intended to "give him another chance" than to say she intends to "stand by" him. There is no credit in "standing by" and defending crime.

It would seem that some women never show real affection for a husband until he becomes a criminal and breaks every moral and divine law.

Rain

By Jane McLean

RAIN and the storm-wheeler. And the sob of the tide, And the gray of the skies that reach from the east outside.

And the blur of a sea gull's wing On the far away. That seems but a storm-tossed thing In a world of gray.

Rain, with its rush in my face, With its tang on my cheek, Whirling its anger through space In its effort to speak.

And the soul of the world in the wall, And the thrill of the sea, That speaks in the shrill of the gale To the soul in me.

In-Shoots

Ignorance of the cheap scandal of the neighborhood does not damage a man to any extent.

The love of home life is to be commended, provided it does not make a bigot of the old man.

Some persons are so hard to suit that they want the silver lining to every cloud gold-plated.

The musical ear, of course, always suffers most from the efforts of the near-musical.

A wise man never writes a foolish love letter. He never writes any.

The bachelor is the man who claims to understand women. But he is sometimes the chap that the women understand.

The man who marries his first love is often glad that he did not have to love more than once.

Never say the man with a handsome wife—at least until you have heard her talk.

A woman may not be a very good cook and still be able properly to treat her husband.

The tall man is occasionally short on intellect.

A term in office will in most cases kill the reform bug in a man.

A grudge nursed in secret will poison the system of any person.

The man who is an expert with the garden hoe seldom plays golf.
